FEARS THAT THE ADA HAS BEEN LOST

LITTLE SCHOONER HAD TO SLIP HER ANCHOR AND GET OUT INTO A GALE.

People on the water front are beginning to worry over the little island schooner Ada. The vessel may have been lost for advices that were brought to the city yesterday by the steamer Keauhou regarding the Ada were of a very alarming character.

The Ada went to Wainiha Kamae week before last with powder and lumber for the contractors at that place. By Wednesday November 17, the vessel had finished discharging cargo and was riding at anchor, her captain intending to remain over night. But heavy weather began to set in, a strong north west swell running, with a northerly wind. The master of the vessel realized that unless he took his vessel out-side of the anchorage she would be piled up on the rocks so he slipped the anchor and considerable chain and stood out to sea.

It was supposed that she had made Honolulu but this opinion appears to be incorrect. Nothing has been seen of her here. She was very light and Captain Tullett of the Keauhou expressed the opinion this morning that the Ada might have been carried south of the islands or even have been lost for the weather was very nasty at the time the little schooner got away from Kamae.

The Ada was wrecked on Oahu some years ago. She was swept on the beach at Kahana Bay but was salvaged by Alec Lyle and repaired and put into commission. She is a staunch seaboat but whether she was able to weather the rough weather when very light is uncertain. She was probably not supplied with food for any protracted stay and the crew of the craft may be suffering from starvation.

MORNING STAR IS OFFERED FOR SALE

STEAMER IS TO LAY UP HERE WHILE THE MISSIONARY BOARD SENDS CIRCULARS BROADCAST.

To all parts of the world will go forth circulars from the American Board of Foreign Missions telling ship brokers and possible purchasers that the missionary steamer Morning Star, is for sale. The board has decided to dispose of the vessel but will keep her here until some offer shall have been received for the vessel.

There is no telling what career is before the vessel. She may be bought by some tourist committee for use as a Sunday school excursion boat or else some agents of Chinese pirates may purchase the vessel for piratical purposes in the Far East. It is even possible that having served its purpose in giving the South Sea Islands the key to treasures in heaven, the vessel may now be converted by her prospective owners into a rig to search for lost earthly treasures on Cocos Island. But the field for possible uses for the craft is boundless as boundless as the imagination of a Baron Manchusen so why speculate further? In the meanwhile the vessel will lay up in rotten row awaiting a purchaser.

Captain Garland and his family will be the only people aboard and so, for then once, the craft will be a house boat for them until orders have been received.

HAWAII COAST IS A VAST WATERFALL

ADMIRAL BECKLEY REPORTS THAT VIEW IS MAGNIFICENT—HEAVY RAINFALL THURSDAY.

Hawaii has been enjoying the most copious rains during the present week. Admiral George C. Beckley of the steamer Kinai, brings interesting news of the rainfall about the Big Island.

He says that the rain fell from Wednesday until yesterday. He heard that Hakalau had over 7 inches of rain on Thursday night. The rainfall from Kohala along the coast past Hilo has been very great.

On the return trip the view from the steamer Kinai was beautiful. The Admiral says that all of the waterfalls were showing large streams and even the sides of the cliffs were silvered with the leaping floods. The cliffs near Laupahoehoe resembled the falls of Niagara in width although the volume of water was not so great.

HALEIWA.

The Haleiwa Hotel, Honolulu's famous country resort, on the line of the Oahu Railway, contains every modern improvement and affords its guests an opportunity to enjoy all amusements—golf, tennis, billiards, fresh and salt water bathing, shooting, fishing, riding and driving. ## MONTE CRISTO A GREAT SUCCESS

ANOTHER PLEASING PERFORMANCE OF THIS GREAT DUMAS STORY.

"The world is mine!" yelled Monte Cristo. "Not on your life," said John D. Rockefeller. And thereby hangs a tale. At the Orpheum this afternoon and evening the last performances of "Monte Cristo" will be given by the Buhler Company of players.

This has been one of the most successful productions given by this excellent company since its advent here two weeks ago. Nothing has been left undone to make it memorable in every particular.

A strong play, powerful in plot and full of action, interpreted by a strong company every man and woman fitted to their parts and the roles well sustained. In addition to the personnel of the company the scenic investiture of the play was most noteworthy, especially the dungeons of the Chateau d'If and the wild raging waters that surround it. How Mr. Buhler managed to produce such wonderful effects on such a small stage as the Orpheum only a master craftsman alone knows.

The costuming of the play is both tasteful and beautiful—in fact the sense of color and harmony were well observed.

Mr. Buhler has been rewarded for his painstaking efforts by splendid houses every night. It is freely predicted now that this company will do the banner business in comparison with the various companies that have visited the islands in the past.

Next Monday evening the company will go back to fun and frolic with "Confusion" for the bill. This is the funniest comedy on the stage. The latter end of the week will be devoted to "Paul Revere."

DEATH OF REV. SHEPARDSON

his duty to bear certain afflictions without complaint.

"I obtained my degree of Doctor of Philosophy at Yale," said the doctor when asked as to his career. "I had mapped out my career to be that of a professor of Semitic languages but matters intervened. I have been for the last ten years a travelling preacher and lecturer and have visited every portion of the United States. I am a member of the Baptist church myself, but I have, and always will of course, been in harmony with all the Christian churches."

"I was formerly assistant to Dr. W. R. Harper, now president of the University of Chicago and was afterwards assistant pastor of the First Baptist church with Rev. Poindexter S. Henson, now at Tremont Temple, Boston.

The funeral services of the late Dr. Daniel Shepardson will be held tomorrow, Sunday, at the Central Union Church at 3 p. m. Rev. Dr. Kincaid officiating. There is sure to be a large attendance as during his short stay here the deceased made a host of friends and the peculiarly sad circumstances of his demise have appealed to many who never even saw him.

According to Dr. Augur, the attending physician, the immediate cause of death was typhoid-malaria.

"I was only called in on Sunday last," said Dr. Augur this morning "but from what I learned of the case Dr. Shepardson should have been under some physician's care for a week or more before that. The history of the case shows that he was used to having chills, so used to them in fact that he carried quinine with him all the time. He sustained a fracture of the thigh last July and was laid up for some time with an extension weight on his leg. This of course reduced him very much and then he came here to a warm climate where he over-worked himself. He seemed to be a bundle of energy without the constitutional force to back it up. He was conscious until a few hours before he passed away. For a week he had been suffering from severe chills and fever but he did not summon medical aid. A man in robust health might have thrown off the attack but Dr. Shepardson was in no condition to do so."

Out of respect to the deceased there will be no evening service at the Central Union tomorrow evening, but there will be a prayer service in the lecture room.

The services at the Central Union church will be the only ones in connection with the obsequies of the late Dr. Shepardson. There will be no interment as arrangements have been made at the request of Mrs. Shepardson for the cremation of the remains.

George P. Castle and J. P. Cooke had the task of arranging for the funeral today with undertaker H. H. Williams. The services will be simple and all who heard the late gospel worker, it is expected, will make an effort to attend.

A MATINEE IN THE FORENOON

NANCE O'NEIL'S PERFORMANCE
AT THE OPERA HOUSE NEXT
TUESDAY WILL BEGIN AT 10:30.

Owing to the uncertainty as to whether the Sonoma will sail at two or three o'clock next Tuesday, it has been decided to set the time for the Nance O'Neil matinee at 10:30 in the morning. This hour will be more satisfactory all around as it will allow the performers plenty of time before the sailing of the steamer and will allow patrons to have their lunch at the customary time.

Although the house has been pretty well sold out there are yet a few good seats both down stairs and up, and for any one who wishes to have a theatre party one of the lower boxes remains unsold.

The Boston Sunday Globe had the following to say of Nance O'Neil when the actress was in that city nearly two years ago:

"What sort of woman is Nance O'Neil this new tragedienne, who with the figure of Minerva, the facial aspect of Hebe and the halo of a luxuriant growth of golden hair about her intellectual head, has within two weeks achieved the hitherto unprecedented feat of giving daily matinees with the classic drama as an attraction, and filling the house with the very cream of Boston's most intellectual and cultured society? In the hope of solving that question a 'Globe' representative sought an interview a couple of evenings ago with Miss O'Neil at her hotel. The first discovery made was that this greatest American actress of the present, if not of any other generation is as remarkable for her lack of self-appreciation as she is for her genius."

EXCLUSION LAWS WILL BE MODIFIED

the case, it would have been over long ago.

"The dispute is pretty well known here. The government has claimed that 'sake' was a wine and so charged a duty of 50 cents on it. The importers have urged that 'sake' is more akin to beer, on which the duty is 20 cents, or if not a beer, it comes under the head 'unenumerated manufactured articles' and is subject to a duty of only 9 cents.

"On these broad lines the matter has been fought out. H. J. Johnston of Honolulu took the matter up primarily. The United States Circuit Court of New York decided in our favor as did the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in New York. There were no grounds for a writ of error. A new test case was ordered before a commissioner in San Francisco to take evidence for the Board of Appraisers. This went all our way and a month ago the New York Board of Appraisers reversed its own decision which had originally been given against us. It is now that the government's chance of appeal will lapse if not filed at once.

"As I said, I think that an appeal will be made for the simple reason that there is politics in this as in other things. A matter of about $750,000, is involved and the Secretary of the Treasury would certainly be criticized if he did not fight such a matter to the last ditch. The case will go, if as I expect, it is to be appealed, first to the Circuit Court in San Francisco, then to the Circuit Court of Appeals, San Francisco, and finally to the Supreme Court of the United States.

"The government has no chance whatever of winning but it will be a year or more before the matter is settled I am afraid. The new trials have elicited no new evidence favorable to the government's case but on the contrary have made our case stronger.

"A number of Japanese importers are keenly interested in the issue but H. Hackfeld & Co., are probably the most interested of all importers. Among other well known firms who will share in the rebate are Macfarlane & Co., Seely Shaw & Co., and Peacock & Co. The exact amount involved I cannot state, but it will certainly exceed three quarters of a million dollars."

Attorney Fitch's plans are not yet settled as much hinges on the receipt of news as to what move in the case the government intends to take.
